Heritage Consulting Group Opens Midwest Office in Madison

Madison, Wis. – Heritage Consulting Group, a national firm based in Portland, Oregon and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, has opened its Midwest office in Madison, Wisconsin. Heritage is a leading advisor to owners and developers of older and historic buildings through the development process, helping them secure federal, state and local incentives. Founded in 1982 by John Tess, Heritage has completed over 1,700 projects throughout the U.S. Heritage is currently consulting on two Wisconsin projects – The Milwaukee Journal Complex and the Horlick Site in Racine.

Jen Davel will be joining the firm as Midwest Regional Director, and will be responsible for business development and management of Heritage projects in the Midwest region. Prior to accepting the position, Ms. Davel served as the Deputy State Historic Preservation Officer and Tax Credit Project Reviewer at the Wisconsin Historical Society. She previously served as architect at Strang Architects in Madison and Miller Dunwiddie Architects in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

In announcing the opening of the new office, Heritage founder, John Tess, offered, “The opening of the Midwest Office marks a significant milestone for Heritage. Being a national firm, Heritage has always had a strong Midwest presence, having completed dozens of high-profile projects in the region. Opening this office also has special meaning to me as I grew up in Milwaukee. Having a physical presence has been long time in the planning and Jen will allow us to expand upon our track record of success in the region.” Cindy Hamilton, firm president, added “We are delighted that Jen Davel has joined our firm. Her depth of experience and recognition in the industry reflect our commitment to providing the highest level of service to our clients.”

Jen Davel earned her Bachelor of Arts degree in Architecture from University of Minnesota in Minneapolis and a Master’s degree in Architecture from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.
